MORE THREATS FOR THE LEAGUE MAGNATES FROM FREEDMAN.

Says He Will Not Sign the Circuit Agreement Unless They Act Fairly on the Player Question-Rogers Buys Slagle and New York Protests-Three More Brooklyn Men Sign - Johnson Talks. President Freedman of the New York Baseball Club has not yet opened his "barrel" to strengthen his team so that it will have a chance to hold its own in the coming championship race. Manager Ewing has been here since Sunday, but so far his hands have been offectually tied. Although the magnates got down upon their knees and obeyed nearly every command of the New York magnate. they are still waiting for him to make good the promise that as soon as the circuit had been reduced to eight clubs, the $1,000 Holmes fine had been pald back with interest and the New York club had been guaranteed against loss by carrying the lease of Manhattan Field to the extent of $15,000 annually, a liberal financial outlay would be made to place a strong ball team at the Polo Grounds. It will be remembered that every club owner, except Freedman, signed an agreement to pay out $104,000 to remove Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland and Louisville, thereby reducing the circuit to the desired number of towns; also that the $1,000 fine with interest was repaid, and that the magnates passed a resolution to the effect that Freedman had been unfairly

It will also be recalled that Freedman last Friday had the pick of the surplus Washington players, upon each of whom a price was fixed, and that the only player he selected, Mercer, was handed over to him for nothing. Freedman refused McGann who was listed at $2,500, but who was afterward sold to St. Louis for $5,000 cash. He also declined to take Donnovan from Dreyfuss of Pittsburg, who then sold the player to St. Louis for $2,000. The New York President positively refused to buy a single Baltimore player, although he had first pick, and St. Louis then bought McGraw, Robinson and Keister for big money, said to be $18,000. Weyling, one of the Washington pitchers, was turned down by New York only to be secured by Brooklyn for $500. Chicago purchased Pitcher Cunningham from Pittsburg and also Childs from St. Louis. Boston paid $7,500 cash for Freeman, Dineen and Barry, all of whom would have helped the New Yorks immensely. While these sales were going on, Freedman did nothing. Instead he authorized Manager Ewing to give out this statement last night:
"Mr. Freedman will not sign the agreement to pay his share of the $104,000 circuit reduction money and reliable here."

"Mr. Freedman will not sign the agreement to pay his share of the $104,000 circuit reduction money and will allow baseball to go to the dogs at the folo Grounds unless certain magnates act lairly and make good their promises. He wants a chance to buy some of the surplus players held by different clubs and will not accept has beens either. The Philadelphia Club has received wor't from Fresilent Young that its claim upon the services of Outfielder Single, one of the Washington blavers, is valid, We put in a claim for this man on Monday but have been informed that we were too late. Rogers now has the nerve to offer us one of his extra outfielders for $3,000. Freedman sent him a scorching letter to-day. Then there's the case of Hamilton, the Boston centrefielder. We wanted to get him, but we have been told that the Boston Club people wish to find out first whether he is of any use to them. Last year Hamilton had weak ankles. If they are all right this season he will stay in Boston. If they are not New York can have him. That's about the size of it. There are other players we would like to have, but the magnates are selfish and unreasonable. If they do not come to time Mr. Freedman will make things warm for them."

"Do you mind giving the names of the

"Do you mind giving the names of the players you want and cannot get, t gether with the names of the magnates who are unreasonable?" asked THE SUN reporter.

"I will give no names at all," replied Ewing, "I simply say we want the rick of the surplus players belonging to the various clubs."

"Do you believe Freedman will put up any money?" Oh, yes! He will spend as much as any-dy," was the reply. "If he can get the right of material."

How about Selbach of Cincinnati?"
I don't know."
Meekin has been released by Boston. Will you sign him?"
"I don't know!"

BRIGHTON'S JUVENILE STAKES. Difficulty in Finding Names for the Youngsters to Race by the Sea. The recently appointed racing secretary of the Brighton Beach Association has a keen sense of euphony and humor and is getting a proportionate amount of enjoyment out of his work in connection with the forthcoming stakes at the popular track by the sea. This particularly applies to the special events for two-year-olds. The emphatic rule of the Jockey Club that thoroughbreds of this age must be officially christened before March 1 has severely taxed the ingenuity of owners and trainers. Even the most expert and erudite horsemen found picking names harder than picking winners and the clerical staff of the Jockey Club has been working overtime to get the register straightened out. The Brighton secretary has at last got his juvenile in

BITH THE TROTTERS.

Horsemen Want Maud S. to Head the Parade at Speedway Park.

The announcement yesterday in THE SUN of plans for a parade of metropolitan road horses to mark the opening of the season at Speedway Park caused much comment among horsemen. Everybody who drives a trotter or a pacer appears to believe the project is a capital one, and the chances are that it will be carried out. A well-known roadite suggested yesterday that Maud S., 2:084, the most noted trotter now living, ought to lead the way past the reviewing stand. The old mare has not been seen on the road for several years, but she drives kindly and still possesses vigor and speed. Thousands of New Yorkers would go a long way to see one of the sons of Robert Bonner drive her over the Speedway.

David S. Hammond of the Murray Hill Hotel is going to introduce a new trotter of note on the Speedway this spring. The horse is The Czar, a six-year-old bay gelding, by Chimes out of Mr. Hammond's old road mare Frederica, 2:20%, by Almonarch, 2:24%. He has shown a 2-10 gait in private, out has never started in a race. George West of Tommy Britton fame handled the gelding last year. ### YACHT ASSOCIATION MEETING. setts Yachtsmen to Discuss Amend ments to Bules. Boston, March 14.-The Yacht Racing Association of Massachusetts will hold its annual meeting and elect officers to-morrow evening. The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer will be read, and the dates for the open races of the coming season will be assigned. A number of important amendments to the racing rules will come up for action, and the probabilities are that the session will be a lengthy one. The following are the amendments to be acted upon: To amend Rule 3, section 5, to read: Any club may receive special entries for their race from yachts not owned by members of clubs of the association, but such yachts must conform to the rules of the classes in which they sail, and are not enitled to any of the privileges of the association, and shall not affect the percentage of any regularly To amend Rule 7, classification, by adding a new class, under the name of the 18-foot knocksbout class, class 1, yachts conforming to the limitations of the 18-foot Knocksbout Association. the association percentage in the racing rules, as follows: Percentages will be figured as follows:

One hundred per cent, for winning first place, 50
for second, 25 for third and 15 for each other yacht completing the course within the time limit.
Only open races which have been duly scheduled and accepted by this committee in advance of the race, and which are sailed under the rules of the association, shall be counted for percentages. The total amount of percentage will be divided by the number of starts. In figuring percentages it will be desumed that a yacht shall have started in at least half as many races as the yacht having the largest number of starts in her class, and in no case will any championship be awarded to ayacht which has finished in less than five races.
No race shall count for percentage which is not sailed in a reasonable depth of water to accommodate all yachts of a class. The racing season will commence on Deceration Day and end the second Saturday in September.

By the first of the above amendments, it will

Saturday in September.

By the first of the above amendments, it will be seen that any club holding membership in the association may lavite yachts owned by members of the Quincy Yacht Club or any other club not enrolled in the association to participate in its race, and the only thing such yachts will lose is the percentage that goes to the prize winners, but they can carry off the cash prize if they happen to get a place. Should the amendment be adopted, the members of the Quincy Yacht Club, which recently withdrew from the association, stand a good chance of getting a share of the prizes this season, for there is hardly a club in the bay that will not invite members of that club to enter for their open races.

The third amendment is proposed for the The third amendment is proposed for the purpose of inciting the last boats in a race to light it out to the finish, for heretofore, when skippers have found themselves so far behind that it would be an impossibility to get a cash trize or any percentage, they have been inclined to withdraw and take the shortest course for home. To offset this inclination, the 15 per cent in the association champion-ship is offered as an inducement for the boats to thick any way. to finish any way.

The last of the above amendments is one that

The last of the above amendments is one that promises to cause some discussion and may not be favorably acted upon. Only one or two clubs can say that they have "a reasonable depth of water" for all yachts of the various classes. Take the Elfrida, Cartoon, Nettie and others that have a deep draught, for example. Only the Hull-Massachusetts, South Boston, and one or two others have a sufficient depth of water to insure these boats from getting aground, and even at South Boston yachts have been known to stick their centreboards into the mud so that they have been unable to finish. At Winthrop is another shallow place. The races there have to be started at nearly full tide, and the big boats have to follow the channels closely or they are liable to wait over a tide. Whether or not the association clubs will allow this amendment to pass remains to be seen, for there are few that will be willing to have their amendment to pass remains to be seen, for there are few that will be willing to have their races sailed over an ocean course, which is the on y way to insure deep water at all times dur-

LIPTON'S PLANS DISCUSSED.

Yachtsmen Think He Will Be Allowed to Bring Over Two Yachts.

The news that Sir Thomas Lipton intended to challenge for a race for the America's Cup for next year, was the chief topic discussed among yachtsmen yesterday, and every one had a good word for the plucky Knight. What the terms of his challenge would be no one pretended to know, but it was generally agreed that he would not ask for anything that the New York Yacht Club would not agree to. When Sir Thomas Lipton left this city after the last series of races, he expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the conditions that governed the races, and would be willing to challenge again under the same terms. Since he has been home an i had an opportunity to talk things over with his yachting friends and with the designers, he has found that he will have to ask for slightly dif-ferent terms. He would like now to make cer-

STARK DEFEATED AGAIN.

TOWNSEND TAKES HIS MEASURE AT THE HANOVER CLUB TOURNEY.

The Former Class B Winner Not in Form for the Greater New York Championship Honors-A Slow Game, With the Averages Not Up to the Usual Mark. J. Byron Stark, the former Class B champion, suffered another defeat last night in the tournament for the championship of Greater New York, which the Hanover Club of Brooklyn is holding. He put up his poorest game for a long time and he was beaten by Arthur Townsend by a score of 300 to 274. He had plenty of chances to win toward the close, but was simply not in his usual form and only averaged trifle over 5. Townsend has really not practised at all for this tournament, and his showing is surprising his friends as well as himself. He was only beaten three points by Poggenburg on the opening night, and last night he defeated Stark. It was a slow game. The play did not begin until nearly 9 o'clock and then there was a tenminute intermission, when the contest was half over, while the table received a brushing. Both men started off at a snail's pace and at the Stark scored 25 in the thirty-seventh inning, but his opponent came back at him with 17 and 28. A run of 27 in the forty-fifth put Townsend within twenty-four points of victory but seven more innings passed before he made them. In the meantime Stark had crawled up to 274, but he was very nervous and could not hold the balls and Townsend won as everybody expected. The scores:

This settlement of the Pacific Const situation places all the racing in the country under the control of one body, which is a condition that has not existed since the spring of 1897, when the California clubs seceded from the L. A. W. Arrangements are now being made for the organization of a Rocky Mountain district of the N. C. A., which will comprise Colorado, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. The district in charge of Loos embraces California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and Idaho. It is probable that W. I. Doty of Denver will be the representative of the Rocky Mountain district. There is an agitation now going on in Canada to have the N. C. A. step in and take control in the Dominion also. Some of the leading members of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, the body now in control beyond the St. Lawrence, favor divorcing the racing from the body as the L. A. W. has done, and giving control to the N. C. A. The grand circuit of the N.C. A. will include Montreal this summer and a big meet for that city has been planned. W. J. The question will be presented at the spring meeting of the C. W. A. at Toronto on Good Friday. These developments put the N. C. A. In the line of being the strongest cycle racing body in the world.
